I am pleased to announce the spring 2017 cultural exchange travel program between select US cities and Havana and Guanabacoa, Cuba! I am also excited to announce that during these exchanges that will take place in the month of May, I will celebrate my 50th birthday and Cubanako fundraising event at the Museo de Guanabacoa and you are all invited! Proceeds will go towards the sustainable revitalization of Guanabacoa creating jobs and projects in areas including cultural preservation, organic farming, workforce development training and leadership and peace education.

PRICE
$1,800-
$2,400

Some of the highlights of the program includes indepth tour of historic Guanabacoa, the once sacred homeland of native Cuban Indians, visit the Hatuey Canoe at the Antonio Nuñez Foundation for Nature and Humanity and visit to Organiponico Alamar organic farm. The tour will also include tobacco and rum farm and factory visits to allow you to connect with local people in their place of work and receive insight into not just the production processes of these products but also learn about workplace culture in Cuba. This tour is specially designed to allow you to connect and engage with your soon to be friends and family in Guanabacoa and Havana as you will be able to dine and jazz through the evenings with them or just relax to a tranquil Cuban bolero at a bar nearby the centrally located hotel.
