Methodology of the retreat

- This is an itinerant silent retreat with joyful convivial moments and educational opportunities to think about our own leadership journey and call in light of the humanistic leadership lessons of Saint Francis and utilizing a Jesuit (Ignatian) pedagogy.
- At the beginning of each day, participants will receive a short orientation by Dr. Marco Tavanti and author of the book with selected leadership lessons. The reflection will summarize some elements described in the book in relation to the 1) Historical context of Saint Francis (context); 2) The life examples of Saint Francis (experience); and the 3) Leadership Lessons from Saint Francis (analysis).
- During the day, participants will explore sites under the guidance of the book and accompanied by a tour bus. They preferably will have lunch together at a typical Tuscan restaurant.
- 4) During the evening or on the return trip by bus, participants can choose to reflect in their journal addressing the suggested book prompts and/or discussions during the day. The idea is that they should specifically think about the consequences and implications of these lessons for their lives and make plans of real action for their own leadership practice (action).
- 5) During the evening and dinner time participants are encouraged to dine in small groups and discuss their reflections and actionable plans (evaluation)
- After the 5 days immersion, participants can select additional sites to explore additional lessons.
